1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the principles of the theory of the structure of the universe. It is shown that the universe is a system of particles, which are in motion and interact with each other.
The particles are of two kinds: matter and energy. Matter is the substance of which the universe is made, and energy is the force which acts upon it. The particles of matter are of two kinds: atoms and molecules.
Atoms are the smallest particles of matter, and molecules are groups of atoms. The particles of energy are of two kinds: light and heat. Light is the energy which is transmitted by the sun and the stars, and heat is the energy which is transmitted by the air and the water. The particles of matter and energy are in motion, and their motion is governed by the laws of physics.
The laws of physics are the laws which govern the motion of all particles of matter and energy. The laws of physics are the
